Note: From 1961-1973, Hondo (nom de plume, or alias, or AKA Peter Cedarstacker) wrote a social satire column for the Comfort News. The fictional town of Cedar Creek and all of its characters eventually became the real town of Luckenbach and all of its characters (and Luckenbach has some real characters!) The MOON reserves a special corner for Peter Cedarstacker, Writer, as a corner of wit and human insight for us today.

-Becky Crouch Barrales

CEDAR CREEK CLIPPINGS

Lenny B. Jones carried Jesus McNeil to the other side of Big Flat Tuesday to see 'bout pickin' watermelons again this summer. His govt. checks for not pickin' watermelons this winter are goin' to run out soon and he has to go to work. We all feel sorry for him havin' to work, then too he lets us use the checks at the beer joint sometimes.

Mrs. Wurstbottom, president, called an emergency meetin' of the BLOOP group, "Bird Lovers of Our Precinct" to report that the hummers (that's professional talk for hummin' birds) are back and she saw the first one. Just like last year. And the year before. And the year before.

Mrs. W. (we call her that not to her broad face) also told us 'bout takin' her toy poodle to the psychiatrists in Big Flat. You see, dogs, like kids, know more 'bout their masters than the masters know 'bout them. Just keep your eye on your dog for a spell and you'll notice he's always watchin' you. He studies your voice, your gestures (arm wavin') and most of all, your smell. Trapper Gutowsky's dogs never get lost; they can smell him a mile upwind yet.

And that's exactly why Mrs. Wurstbottom took her nervous toy poodle to the doctor. First of all, her voice is changin' and when she's not talkin' with her hands she uses her feet or body English. But what put the pooch on the couch was the day it got lost in the big, wild store in B.F. that sells helicopters and mink garbage cans. It followed Mrs. Wurstbottom into the store as Channel No. 5 and she came out as Helena Rubenstein with Max Factor behind her knees. Poor dog.

Remember: Fight anti-bellum
